About Danyetta

Danyetta Najoli's mission is to support people who are in support professions and helping roles. She has worked in the field of intellectual/developmental disabilities for over sixteen years. She served on the Ohio Alliance for Direct Support Professionals board as a DSP for three years. Danyetta is a senior staff at Starfire Council where she loves connecting her clients to other people based on similar hobbies, talents, interests, passions, and neighborhoods.

Danyetta is also a certified personal coach and operates her own training and development company. Her work is based on the research of social role theory, multiple intelligence, mindfulness, and positive psychology. She earned her Certificate of Advanced Proficiency (CAP) through OADSP's DSPaths Program and a Coaching for Results Certificate from Harvard Business School. Danyetta wrote the ebooks, What is Coaching and Unstoppable Confidence: Sustaining a Posture for Success, which serves as a guidebook for Direct Support Professionals and others.

Danyetta earned a Bachelors of Science in Business Administration from Fisk University and a Masters of Arts in Organizational Leadership from Regent University. She enjoys serving her communities, singing, international travel and spending time with her husband and two children.
